

Silicon.com - There's no such thing as free 802.11b...

Sandwich bar chain Benugo has established wireless hot spots at two of its London stores, in partnership with wireless communications firm Broadscope. (more...)